BICYCLE RIDER IS FINED TWO DOLLARS

William Hell Pleads Guilty to Violating City Ordinance Riding on Sidewalk and is Fined.

Bicycle riders keep off the sidewalk if you wish to escape being arraigned before Judge Maxfield in the municipal court for violating the city ordinance and be fined from one to five dollars. William Hell yesterday found that the sidewalk was much easier to ride on than the street but it was better to ride in the street than pay a fine of two dollars and costs, which was given him this morning.

Motorcycle Policeman Smith is not only watching for speeders but Monday arrested Hell and Emil Pautz, contractor, for riding a bicycle on the sidewalk. Hell was brought up this morning and Pautz, it is expected, will be arraigned before the court this afternoon as his complaint has been filed against him.

E. S. Schiering, a boarder at a Lin street residence, slept overtime yesterday. Nothing could awaken him and for nearly fifteen hours he slumbered in peace. While still in dreamland he was rudely brought back to earth when Policeman William Gower applied the "hot foot" treatment and he was jailed for being drunk. This morning in court Schiering pleaded not guilty to the charge of drunkenness and his examination was set for Wednesday at ten o'clock.

STUDENTS' CONCERT PLEASES CONVICTS

Musicians From State School for Blind Bring Tea to Eyes of Waupun Prisoners.

"There were many of the seven hundred men who heard the concert of the blind students' given at the state's prison at Waupun on Sunday who actually broke down in tears," said Superintendent Hooper today in speaking of the event. Thirty blind students including the members of the orchestra and chorus took part in the exercises which took place in the regular morning session in the prison chapel. Old guards of the prison told Superintendent Hooper that it was the finest program of the kind which had ever been enjoyed at the prison and the students were highly complimented for their excellent work. The prisoners were especially enthusiastic and three and four encores were demanded for some of the numbers. The program was of sacred pieces.

Strangers passing through here ask: "What is the matter with the grove?" It is the June bugs, they will eat out in time for the reunion and old settlers' picnic which will be held the 25th of June.

A perfect day was ushered in for decoration. Four fine looking men, Sons of Veterans, from William F. Vilas camp, Stoughton, motored down and placed flags on the soldiers' graves and expressed surprise that the flag was not floating from the flag staff. The men did not have vim enough to put one up, the women could not do it, so Old Glory did not float.

It should be taught and every teacher should have a short program to honor Decoration day.

ERUPTION ALL OVER CHILD'S BODY

Began With Small Red Spots, Cried Almost Day and Night. Used Cuticura Soap and Cuticura Ointment. Well in One Week.

R. F. D. No. 2, Jackson, Mo.—"Our daughter who is ten months old was suffering from an eruption all over the body. In the beginning they were small red spots and afterwards turned to bloody sores. We tried all sorts of ointments but they did not procure any relief for our child. She had no rest day or night and we tried everything to procure relief for our baby.

She cried almost day and night and we scarcely could touch her, because she was covered with sores from head to foot.

"We had heard about the Cuticura Soap and Ointment and made a trial with them, and after using the remedies, that is to say, the Soap and the Ointment, only a few days passed and our child could sleep well and after one week she was totally well."

SEVERAL FAST ONES HIT A LIVELY PACE

Alice McGregor and Addition in Classy Workout a Few Days Ago Show Plenty of Speed.

There was plenty of excitement for the rail birds and a good ground trainers at the Jansville driving park a few days ago when William Millard with Alice McGregor and B. C. Kilmin with Addition, in the last mile of a three mile work-out, hit up a 2:20 pace and did the final quarter in 30 1/2 seconds. It served to indicate the stuff in these two classy favorites.

Secretary Putnam with Josie McKinney, 2:19 1/2. Walter Walsh with Starlight, a green pacer, and Toddy Cochate with McGinnis, up, worked out very nice miles, coming the last end of each mile in 1:16 and the final quarter in 36 seconds. The first two named horses were worked with Toddy Cochate just for educational purposes and to see the way this fully trained horse impresses one with her possibilities.

Josie McKinney is taking her work very nicely this spring and it is to be hoped that she meet with no reverses such as she experienced last season. It is no secret with any horseman on the ground that she is a sure 2:10 trotter and to remember that she was raised in Jansville makes her chances all the stronger.

Barren Maximus right at this time looks as though he could trot as fast as his trainer wanted him to, although the Barren has peculiar ideas of his own. His disposition is not of the very best, but nevertheless he exhibits a tendency to show that he will make a fast trotter when he drops his head and wants to let out.

The President, Mr. Delavan, has not been asked to do anything phenomenal as yet, but he is in condition to do all that might be asked of him. The other members of Millard's stable are looking well and taking their work like veterans as nothing sensational has been asked of them thus far.

Phil Sheridan is fast getting Mable Riser in form and she shows much improvement in her last mile. At times she will show up at times and resist turning into the pole. Phil seems to have broken her of these notions and if she continues to behave what a trotter she will take to heat her before the season is over.

Halp Wauflie with his three head is at present very busy from early morn till late at night. Miss Logan it is a much improved horse, and last season and when she flattens out on the pace she looks as though she could fly.

Ed Reed of Wheaton, Ill., brought George Patch, 2:13 1/2, to the track on Monday and will start training him for the different races throughout the state.

Walter Walsh, formerly with B. C. Kilmin as ground trainer, dropped in last Friday and paid the boys a visit at the track. Although he is not engaged in the horse business at present, he is unable to give up his interest in the game and neither could he resist the temptation of two just finishing up and scouting out a few just how they were working. Mr. Walsh's business takes him around several different training plants and he openly confesses that there are as many high class horses now training in Jansville as any place he knows.

There are a number of changes now being made at the driving park and the numerous visitors who visit the grounds are well satisfied with the progress that is being made. The concrete pillars for the new grandstand will be completed in a day or so and work will be on in full blast as soon as they are received. Every day or so applications are received for reservations for different concessions on the grounds during fair week and all indications point to a big success. If you have not been out to the grounds lately you will find plenty to interest you during a little spare time some afternoon.

CLINTON
Clinton, June 2.—Mrs. S. G. Lake went to Delavan Saturday to visit relatives a few days.

Robert Nelson northeast of town, on the John Inman farm, came near losing his life last Friday when he was driving a team on a disk harrow and one of the horses, a colt, became frightened and Nelson was thrown off the seat in front of the disk which passed over him, badly cutting him in several places. That he was not seriously injured or even killed is little short of miraculous.

Archibald Woodward, Jr., and family of Allen Grove were here Saturday.

Laugh Bennett of Chicago spent Saturday and Sunday here with his mother and sister.

C. J. Giles is preparing to pebble dash his house on the outside and the house is being moved to the side between the buildings of Drake and Langdon is being removed by a long gradual slope. The village is doing the work and bearing the expense.

Mr. Zwolonek returned from his business trip through the eastern cities Saturday and reports a very successful and profitable trip.

Mr. Vedder of Milwaukee spent Saturday and Sunday here the guest of Mr. and Mrs. F. W. Herron.

Mrs. M. H. Peterson of Jansville is here visiting her sister, Mrs. F. H. Miller.

CARD COMPLETED FOR THE BOXING CONTEST

Three Bouts Arranged for June 17th at the Myers Theatre.—Kelly and McMahon the Wind-Up.

Matchmaker Ihrig, of the Bower City Athletic club, today announced his card for the coming bouts of the club, to be held at the Myers theatre June 17th. Luther McCarthy, a local boy with little aspirations and a clever punch, so his friends say, is matched to go six rounds with Bobby Ward, the pride of Beloit, who had a tumble at their last show, but believes he can come back. One hundred twenty-two pounds is the limit and as a curtain raiser it should be a good bout to watch as McCarthy is in dead earnest and seeks a reputation and Ward wants to show he can come back. The semi-windup, or rather the double final, between Young Cox and Young Scotty, eight rounds at 124 pounds is of much interest to local fans, who are most anxious to see Cox again in the squared circle to show what he can do against a man like Scotty. The wind-up will be between Jack McMahon of Pittsburgh, the big white hope who has shown his skill at the Apollo theatre recently, a clever boxer and a chap who looks as though he could stand lots of punishment, and Montana Jack Kelly. Kelly is the chap that chased all the heavyweights out of Montana and made it so hard for him to get a match in the western country, that he had to come east to seek new fields for his efforts. Press reports give Kelly a fine reputation as a ring general. These men will meet at eleven o'clock. The referee has not yet been selected and may be a local man.

The expense of ball teams is going up. Secretary Barnard of the Cleveland Naps points out that it will cost $15,000 more to operate the Cleveland A. A. team this year than it did to run the Naps through a season about ten years ago.

The Detroit Tigers declare that the Boston Americans have the best bunch of curve-ball artists in the business.

AMUSEMENTS

The Apollo.
"The Battle of the Sexes" or The Single Standard which will be presented at the Apollo tonight and Wednesday, is a strong picture play that has made a tremendous impression.

Frank Andrews becomes enthralled by a gay young woman living in the same apartment house, and quite forgets his home ties and neglects his family. The story is advanced through many scenes enacted with the accompanying notes of New York's night life, and the denouement comes when the faithful wife discovers her husband's infidelity. At this time the mother's mind nearly loses balance, while Jane, the daughter, determines to take part in the tragedy. With revolver in hand she steals up to the apartment of the woman, but her frail nature is overcome by the temperamental anger of the woman and her mission fails. However, the errand is not fraught with failure, for the father, coming in at this moment, finds his daughter being made love to by the sweetheart of the young woman, and realizes the road upon which he has travelled. When he confronts his daughter and says, "You, my daughter—what are you doing here?"—the daughter answers, "My father, what are you doing here?" The realization is brought home to the father's mind that the law of moral ethics that governs a woman's life necessarily governs that of man as well. Reformation comes in his character. He takes his daughter away with him and together they go back to their home.

WILSON'S ADDRESS.

That President Wilson should at first decline the invitation of the members of the C. A. R. to deliver an address at the Memorial day service at Arlington cemetery and later, when it was learned that Champ Clark had accepted a similar invitation sending word to the committee he would give a short address, has stirred the country up from one end to the other. That Wilson accepted the invitation at the eleventh hour was from purely political reasons is most certain. His reception, almost an insult to a man occupying the office of president of the United States, and the ill-applauded given his political enemy, Champ Clark, was a demonstration of the feeling of the men who composed the C. A. R. who bitterly resented the attempted insult they insist the president sought to inflict. Behind it all was not so much that the president had declined the invitation originally, but that he had accepted an invitation to speak before the gathering of the Confederate veterans a few days later. True, Wilson is a native son of Virginia, but he moved north to New Jersey and was honored by that state of his adoption by being made governor, and is now the president of both the north and the south. It is not the old soldiers and their friends, it gave them an opportunity to vent their feelings and they did it. They have even gone further. They held a meeting in Washington, Monday, and denounced Wilson for ousting the old soldiers from office for purely political reasons. Leading republicans of the house and senate were present and the resolutions adopted were most bitter. That Wilson made a political blunder is clearly shown. He overstepped the bounds and an eleventh hour acceptance did not help matters at all. During the last strenuous campaign, when the republican party was divided by factional differences, many newspapers throughout the country, republican in other years, espoused the cause of Mr. Wilson. Among them the Madison Journal. Its editor was profuse in his fulsome praise of Wilson during the campaign. But this last event has caused him to write and publish an editorial in which he takes the president to task. In part it says:

"It was a cheap excuse which the president gave for declining to speak for the union soldiers. It was a weak, whimpering excuse to say that he felt he could not speak over the graves of the union soldiers without referring to those who died at Vera Cruz, and that he did not see how he could refer to them at this time. That excuse is so feeble that it simply doesn't go.

"Why need he speak of Mexico? He does not wish to. He was asked to speak over the graves of those who died to preserve this union. And on the other hand, why should he not speak of those who died at Vera Cruz? They, too, died in the service of their country and fighting under the flag that the president is pledged to respect and protect.

"And why should he not as willingly speak of the soldiers who died fighting for the United States of America under his own administration, doing his work as to speak of the soldiers who died under the administration of Joe person Davis, guilty of treason to the flag—and who died fighting upon the flag of the United States of America?"

"It is true that President Wilson is a son of the South, born in Virginia, but he came, by his own choosing, to a union state, New Jersey, and it was this union state that honored him by making him governor. Such honors ought to weigh a little against the accident of birth. If the president is influenced by such petty sentiments and considerations, but the president of our United States should be big enough to stand soldier-like for ideals rather than geographical fences and to realize that the honor of all the states is greater than any one state or even a group of states.

"President Wilson has, since he became the occupant of the White House, shown such a marked disposition to honor not the southern states as such, but the confederacy as such, that even his party politicians have become alarmed, so much so that the cry is common the south is in the saddle.

"Against that cry there can be no objection, for it is no more a crime against the union that the south be in the saddle than that the north be in the saddle. If political divisions must continue along the Mason and Dixon line, but it is a serious matter if the president of the United States voices sympathy for the ideals of the confederacy. One of the democratic leaders in congress said but two days ago to a cabinet member, 'Unless the president takes a different course at once you will soon hear the cry that Wilson is the president of the confederacy.'

"Coupled with this it may not be amiss to note that the first lady of the land, Mrs. Woodrow Wilson, is the honorary president general of the Woman's Auxiliary of the Southern Commercial Congress, which has adopted as its official emblem our national flag, mutilated by tearing out the field of blue entirely and substituting therefor the stars and bars, the confederate battle flag. This organization of which Mrs. Woodrow Wilson is honorary president general, is urging that the congress of the United States change the flag of the United States so that their flag shall be our flag; that the field of blue which carries a star for every state be erased and in its place we put the stars and bars of the confederacy which carries a star only for each state that figured in the confederate army.

"President Wilson declined to speak at Arlington over the union graves on Memorial day. But when Speaker Champ Clark accepted the invitation which the president declined, even those who are still hurrahing for the confederacy grew alarmed at the audacity of the whole thing. And at the eleventh hour the president withdrew his declination and spoke at Arlington over union graves. Though he made a poor speech, an apologetic speech, it still was a speech. It was made not because his heart was there, but because it was political expediency to do so."

Congressman Cooper is to deliver the Fourth of July celebration address. Janesville is fortunate in securing his services in view of the fact that congress will still be in session at that time and matters of importance will be up for consideration. Mr. Cooper, during his long term of office as representative of the First Wisconsin congressional district, has become one of the few men in Washington that even some of the older members turn to for advice in times of need. His address here on the Fourth will be well worth listening to and will be the feature of the morning program.

Colonel Roosevelt has sailed for Europe to attend the wedding of his son. However, before he left he paid his compliments to President Wilson in an unmeasured terms—criticized his administration and showed the error of having elected him. However, he neglected to point to himself as the Nation did to David and say: "Thou art the man." If Roosevelt had been a game loser at Chicago and permitted Taft to be re-elected, Wilson would not have come within shouting distance of being president.

Evidently Senator Carranza has a mind of his own and his faithful follower, Villa, is also in this class. Now they refuse to aid in the A-B-C deliberations by sending a delegate and the hopes of Secretary Bryan for that forty thousand dollar post prize is vanishing. However, he will be able to pick up a few nubile dollars by continuing his chautauqua season program so as to eke out his meagre salary as secretary of state.

It will soon be time for the playgrounds to open and then the small boys and girls will find some place to play. Meanwhile nothing definite has been done about creating a place where the small boy can play baseball without fear of police interference. It would appear that it is within the power of the council to grant the use of the city parks for such purposes, and if so why do they not do it?

This talk of any of the Wilson cabinet resigning owing to differences in opinion as to expediency of handling the government is all poppycock. Those chaps are going to hang onto their jobs just as long as they can. They realize that it may be the only chance a democrat has of muddling up international matters for some time to come and they mean to stick by the ship.

The democrats have decided not to hold a state convention. It was by the vote of the federal officeholders that this was accomplished and yet the democrats have kicked for years at Wisconsin politics being dictated by the federal jobholders of the republican ilk. Now the shoe is on the other foot.

Now that the fishing season has officially opened throughout the state we may expect all sorts of fish stories to float around and be believed in, at least, by the average citizen. The fish that got away is always the biggest fish that was in the lake, however.

Clanging streets, repairing streets and building new streets, is going on at a two-forty clip in Janesville this summer. It is strenuous work that is being done and the result will be seen before the season is very far advanced.

Deafness Cannot Be Cured

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian tube. When this tube is inflamed, you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever, nine cases out of ten are caused by catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will cure the hundred thousands of cases of deafness caused by catarrh that cannot be cured by local applications. Send for circular, free.

Today's Edgerton News

CLASS PLAY WAS GIVEN AT EDGERTON ON LAST EVENING

(Special to the Gazette.)

Edgerton, June 2.—The play, "The Uster," which was given by the class of 1914 last evening, was a decided success and much credit is due to Prof. F. O. Holt for his efficient work in managing the production. The parts were all very well assigned and were acted in a manner which showed careful study and ability of the actors. Clayton Hubbell, who played the part of Mr. Valentine Phipper, a returned merchant with a second wife and a subtle secret, rendered his difficult role with more than average skill. Charles McIntosh, who played the part of Wilmington, Mr. Phipper's son by a former marriage, and who was speechless before his father, acted his part well. Prof. Barton, "Barton's System of Development," very cleverly played by Harold Snider, and made a character which brightened the play and kept the audience merry at all times. Richard Brown, who played the part of George, Mr. Barton's son, and Clara Thompson, Agnes, George's sister, all deserve favorable mention. Margaret Chamberlain and Marion Doty, who played the parts of Mrs. Phipper and Mrs. Barton respectively, played them with much skill. Between acts the audience was favored with music by the orchestra.

Tonight the following exercises will take place at Royal Hall:

Music—Doris Clarke.

Sanitary—Lowell Whitte.

FRAUD CHARGE MADE AS PROTEST TO WILL

CLAIMS LATEST WILL OF JULIA MYERS WAS SECURED BY MISREPRESENTATION.

FILE FOUR OBJECTIONS

Katherine Myers Claims That Filing
of Instrument is Part of Brother's Scheme to Defraud Her of Rights.

Charging that the will of latest date
by which Julia Myers left her entire property to her son, Peter L.
Myers, was procured by fraud and misrepresentation, that improper and undue influence was exercised by Peter L. Myers upon his mother to secure the document, and that the testament in question is a part of the plan
of Peter Myers to defraud his sister, Katherine, out of all rights and interests in certain property and to deprive her of her rights as an heir to her mother's estate, Katherine I. Myers, through her attorney, John L. Fisher,
filed objections in probate court today
protesting against the allowance and admission to probate of the instrument.

The objections are four in number
but the last is by far the most significant and drastic in its charges. It is the one which sets forth the contention that fraud was exercised in the securing of the document filed in behalf of Peter L. Myers, and that he had the intention of defrauding Katherine Myers of her rights and property.

The first objection charges that the instrument propounded by Peter L.
Myers was not duly executed by Julia Myers as her last will and testament
in the manner provided for by law.

The second objection sets forth the claim that the instrument is not and was not the will of Mrs. Myers, and that the same was signed not freely
and voluntarily by Julia Myers.

The third objection states that "the execution was procured by undue influence," exercised over Mrs. Myers
by Peter Myers.

No date was set for a hearing upon
the objections or upon the contest.

COOPER OPPOSED TO A WAR WITH MEXICO

Wisconsin Congressman Does Not
Favor Conflict With Sister Republic.

Honorable H. A. Cooper M. C., who was a Janesville visitor Monday, expressed himself as strongly opposed to a war between the United States and Mexico. He also stated that he had been informed by authorities on international law, that there was no
precedent in the history of the world
which would justify President Wilson's refusal to recognize Huerta and his government, then demand a salute
for an insult to the American flag by officials of that government and when it was refused, sending an armed force to compel them to attend the dance in the matter before the houses of congress then in session. Mr. Cooper is a member of the House committee on foreign relations and as such
has been in consultation with President Wilson frequently during the past few weeks. If the question
came to a vote for or against war
in congress, Mr. Cooper intimated his vote would be against war. He said
"I see nothing as yet to justify this country in making war against Mexico and thus sacrificing thousands of the lives of American soldiers and bringing misery and suffering upon millions of people who are not responsible for the enormous burden of expense which such a war would impose
upon the taxpayers of the country.
The trouble down there arises largely out of land monopoly. The American interests in Mexico are largely in the hands of a few men. The old Irish land question, England solved that by passing drastic land laws. Mexico has not heretofore solved her problem and is now attempting to solve it through revolution. I sincerely hope that the efforts of the mediators at Niagara Falls will be successful
not only in bringing peace to that long-distracted country but also the reforms necessary to make that peace
permanent."

Mr. Cooper was asked as to the prospects of adjournment and replied that Speaker Clark had told him
that in his judgment, September
would be a good time to adjourn. Mr.
Cooper said that he hoped the speaker's prophecy would not come true,
and added that this would be the sixth consecutive summer that congress had remained in Washington during the hot months.

JURY IN RAU CASE CONSIDERING FACTS

Retired Late This Afternoon After Hearing Evidence Presented by Witnesses.

The jury in the case of the state vs. Free Rau charged with selling intoxicating liquors without a license
was given to the jury shortly before four o'clock this afternoon. District
Attorney Dunwiddie assisted by City Attorney W. H. Dougherty prosecuted
the case and Rau was defended by Louis Avery.

In his final plea to the jury Dunwiddie urged a conviction as an importance to the welfare of the community. He pointed out that the committee of the city of Janesville, in Janesville. The place of Rau was described as being an "ideal situation" for selling liquor without a license by the prosecuting attorneys.
The defense of Avery was that no
laws had been violated for the police in their raid failed to find Rau receiving compensation for the liquor,
the witnesses admitted having.

Judge H. L. Maxfield overruled the motion of Attorney Louis Avery to dismiss the action against Rau when the state rested its case late this morning. District Attorney S. G.
Dunwiddie introduced the government license issued to Rau August
last, which is considered by the jury
as evidence for conviction.

Attorney Avery claimed for the defense that Rau surrendered this license to the Janesville municipal court after the police had raided the place and ordinance selling liquor without a license. In the arguments District Attorney Dunwiddie scored a point when he produced evidence showing that Rau had made application for a city license and was given a license by the city council which excluded the
"home" saloon owned by Rau from the favored territory.

The testimony offered by the state
was from Chief of Police L. D. Clu-pion and Policemen Sam Brown and also by three women who were in the sitting room when the arrest was made. Chief Clupion swore that kegs and barrels of liquor, including whiskey, gin and wine, were found in the cellar and that the front part of the store, formerly used for the bar room, had not been changed since Rau was refused a city license. Policemen Brown verified his story.

The three women explained their presence the evening of the raid, as being "family friends" of Mrs. Rau, and all three had been to the adjoining house to visit a sick friend. They had stood for a while with Mrs. Rau but admitted having had several glasses of beer.

At the close of the state's testimony
Rau was placed on the stand and after testifying he moved the great quantity of liquor use and were found in his place, was closely cross-examined
by District Attorney Dunwiddie. According to Rau the presence of so much liquor in the soft drink bar was for high persons who used the beer in being used as medicine. Two jugs
found under the bar containing gin
and kimmel had been there for two years, further explained the witness.

The presence of the bottles of beer in
the sitting room was explained that neighbors
were in the habit of holding a
"family reunion" in his home and he often served them cold beer for refreshment.

The jury in the case was composed of John Snyder, James Scott, George Butts, S. Hutchinson and P. Caldwell.

meeting. Other matters of school importance were passed.

WORKING TO RAISE FUNDS FOR CLINIC

Although Response Has Been Generous, Committee Has Secured
But Half the Amount Needed.

The committee of the civic council
in charge of raising the funds for the proposed dental clinic are bending every effort to secure the amount required before the close of school.
This will mean a good deal of active campaigning as the majority of donations are under a dollar. About half of the sum required for the clinic has already been raised and there should be no trouble in getting the remaining amount. The committee are maintaining, if citizens would only become awake to the actual needs of the city along this line, Janesville
is behind other cities of the country
in this respect and the civic league
and civic council is especially interested in bringing the town up to standard.

It will cost about $400 to equip the room in the manner proposed. The Janesville dentists will donate their services for two months during the school year and will examine and care for the teeth of children whose parents can not feel able to take the matter in charge. That such provision is needed is indicated by the report on the conditions which were found to exist by the dentists in their inspection of the city.

MOTORCYCLE TURNS OVER INJURING TWO

Robert O'Hara and Edward Ward of This City Take Spill Near Or-fordville at One Thirtieth.

Robert O'Hara was rendered unconscious and Edward Ward received a bad cut on the flesh of his right leg above the knee, this afternoon about one-thirtieth, when a motorcycle which both boys were riding, turned over on the east side of the city of Orfordville.
Both boys are Janesville
youths, and reside in the second ward. O'Hara was driving the machine and Ward was riding on the rear adjustable seat when the accident occurred.

It happened that C. Wesley Boas, local agent for the Central Life Insurance company, and a Beloit man by the name of J. W. Hulme, were passing in the former's automobile, just following the accident. The boys were picked up and taken to the Bellevue hospital in Orfordville where the wounds were dressed, and O'Hara rendered unconscious. The boys were then brought to this city and taken to their homes, arriving here at three o'clock.

sented with a certificate of merit by Mr. Hoard.

The feature of this evening's program will be an address on "The Needs of the Farm Home" by Mrs.
Nellie Kedzie Jones of Auburndale,
who organized the home economics
department at the Kansas agricultural college. Tomorrow a delegation of the farmers attending the conference will go to Waukesha county,
where they will visit a number of the leading farms in that district. Thursday and Friday will be spent among the farms of Fond du Lac and La Crosse counties.

Dr. Eugene Davidson, dean of the college of agriculture at the University of Illinois, was the main speaker at yesterday's session. Tomorrow afternoon, C. D. Smith of the United States department of agriculture will give an address on "Farm Management." A. W. Hopkins, professor of agricultural journalism at the state university, thus outlined the plan of the contests and their purpose.

"Our work shows that there is a great variation in the results that are being obtained on different farms, and we are now using the data that we have gathered to figure out some of the causes of the poor and good results with a view of making the data helpful and useful to any who may be interested."

As a tentative program for the
conducting of a test of this character,

I would like to make the following suggestions:

"1. That the work start with the various county orders of the Agricultural Experiment association.

"2. That the efforts be made to awaken local interest among business men, among bankers' associations, enterprising individuals and other businesses that might be interested to offer
such inducements in the way of prizes
as may be desirable to stimulate local interest in the county.

"3. That the competition be open to any farmers who desire to compete.
The eligibility of any person to this competition could be left to a suitable committee appointed for this purpose.

"4. That any member of the county
order who desires to enter this competition shall send his application to the representative of the college of agriculture who has this work in charge. Such representative will then inspect and make a survey of the farm
and submit his findings with his recommendation to a committee on eligibility.

"5. That members of the State Experiment association living in counties where no county orders are organized may compete for prizes in the same manner as members of the county orders, with the understanding that all such persons shall be considered as one group and treated the same as the regular county orders.

"6. That the awards shall be made upon the basis of net financial returns for the farm for one year. These will include a statement of the capital, invested and their distribution, the expenses and their distribution. It is expected that one of the items of expense will be an interest charge of 7 per cent upon the total capital invested at the beginning of the year. It is also understood that the methods employed will be such as to obtain, as nearly as possible, the actual earnings
of the farm, and that no attention will be paid to special inflated or abnormal, those as may result, for instance,
from the rise in the value of land or
from the appreciation of livestock, etc."

"7. Any member who succeeds in winning the first prize for the county
order will not be eligible for further competition in any county order but will be eligible for competition in the state contest until he succeeds in winning a first prize.

"8. That the farmer who succeeds in winning the first prize from the state association will not be eligible for further competition for prizes
from the state association.

"9. That the farmer who competes either for the county or state prizes
and makes a showing on his farm
shall be eligible for membership in what might be called a top notch
farmers' club."

"10. That the farmer who wins the first prize in the state contest shall be considered ineligible for further competition."

EXCELLENT FISHING REPORTED AT LAKES

Large Number of Pickerel and Many Pike Caught at Southern Wisconsin Lake.

Janesville fishermen had the first opportunity of the year to enjoy their favorite sport Saturday and Sunday,
and many local followers of Sir Isaac Newton brought home good strings of fish. At Lake Koshkonong and the Madison lakes pike and pickerel were baiting at a rate that brought joy to the fishermen.

The gamely pickerel were hungry
for the spoon hook and frogs and the majority of fish caught were of this variety. Pike were also biting and fell prey to the frog and minnow bait.
Only a few black bass were caught,
the bass not being in a striking mood.
Not biting in the river to any great degree, but hundreds of fishermen
enjoyed the day on the river banks.

STRAW HAT SEASON OPENED BY CONVENTIONALISTS

Monday was one of the days sacred to the hide bound conventionalist. A prisoner, tied to his bench by the iron chains of the proper thing, he celebrated Monday, the opening of the straw hat season.

It matters not that others have discarded the heavy felt long since.
With a cold and sympathetic eye he has observed the aversion of the me-cury. He has turned as cold a shoulder
as he could to the collar-witling
rays of a summer sun.

But straw hat day it was, and at last
he is free to take the weight from his brow.

ANNOUNCE CAST FOR DRAMA PRODUCTION; ELEVEN CHARACTERS

Frank K. Doane and Andrew Gibbons
To Take Leading Roles in "Borrowed Spectacles," Monday Night.

"Borrowed Spectacles," an English
comedy in three acts, written by Sydney Grundy, will be presented next Monday evening at the Myers Theatre,
by a cast of eleven characters selected from members of the Janesville Dramatic Society. It will be the club's first attempt to put on a play, and from present indications, a great amount of success along the lines of entertainment should be achieved.

Frank K. Doane as Mr. Benjamin Goldfinch, and Andrew Gibbons as Uncle Gregory, a brother of Goldfinch, will assume the leading roles in the production. They will impersonate two old English gentlemen, with quarrelsome habits. A pair of spectacles is the cause of much trouble, causing Goldfinch to be transformed into a grouch, which turns out very amusing.
Harold Jones will assume the role of Percy, son of Goldfinch, and a young
English barrister seeking a position.
His part together with that of Dick Gregory's son, taken by Charles Noyes, are the only two straight parts in the play. The difficulty lies in being natural upon the stage. Dick is also a barrister, supposed to be attaining success at the bar, but who later is found out by his own confessions.

Lorimer, a friend of Goldfinch, is to be impersonated by Rev. E. O. Hoffmeister. This characterization is extremely difficult, and involves some extra dress in acting. Bartholomew,
an old-fashioned English shoemaker,
scarcely making a living, appears upon the scene in the first act. Martin Kennedy is to assume this role, with a clever characterization. Another shoemaker will appear later in the play, with William Pienichen as the impersonator. Willard Hield is to take the part of Joyce, the butler, and he promises to make good. A successful butler on the stage, requires exceptional skill.

There are but three feminine characters in the production. As Mrs.
Goldfinch, Vera H. Jones is impersonating the young wife of Goldfinch.
Lucy Lorimer, daughter of Lorimer, Goldfinch's friend, is a character of a young girl of the refined type. Miss Goldie Dowd will play this part next Monday night. A parlor maid, Charlotte by name, appears several times
and with Miss Dudley taking the characterization.

Every member of the cast has carefully prepared their lines, and are ready to give to the public of Janesville a first-class production.

DECLARE TARIFF IS AFFECTING ALL U. S.

Winfield Jones Cites Many Examples
of Result of Drastic Measure Set by Wilson.

(By Winfield Jones.)
Washington, D. C., June 2.—Search
the whole United States and Senate
found that the Wilson Administration and the Democratic tariff bill
is hurting business in every state in the Union.

Take as an illustration of what the Wilson administration tariff law done
the state of Louisiana.

Having ruined the sugar industry of Louisiana, the brainless free-traders
in Congress have fixed up a pitiful scheme of consolation by proposing an appropriation of $100,000 to pay for experiments in raising hogs on the desolate plantations of the Lone Star State. This ridiculous measure was under discussion in the Senate
May 14, and to show that something was really needed to bolster up the courage of the planters who will be put out of business by free sugar,
Senator Ransdell read the following telegram from Charles Godchaux,
who he said, "is one of the most reliable men in Louisiana and one of the largest bankers."

"May 6, 1914.

"Paul Christian, Woodward Building, Washington, D. C.

"Miles Planting Co., abandoned its properties in Ascension and St. James parishes, containing over 15,000 acres,
fully equipped with three large fast milling machines. The company has sold off its live stock and now offering factories at wrecking value.
Parts of land leased for rice, corn
and other crops, but large portion idle
and labor moved away. Loss to above company, composed of daughter and son, Gen. Miles, not less than $500,- 000. In Terrebonne Parish the Argyle property now under seizure will sell at $50,000 to $75,000, while over three years ago purchased one-quarter
interest from brother for $100,- 000. This shows loss of over $300,-
000. The Bayou sale property of Mr.
Wahl and others, consisting of about 2,000 acres, has been entirely abandoned, due to fact unable to secure money to operate. The seed cane saved to plant in January has not been touched, and loss on this place at least $100,000. Could cite dozens more abandoned places if desired. If senator wants additional information
or wishes me to come on will gladly do so. Wexler will be in Washington tomorrow and can possibly give additional information."

Charles Godchaux.
It is to remedy the monstrous
wrong and loss, inflicted by free-trade upon thousands of planters and laborers, that the paltry sum of $100,- 000 is to be paid out of the national treasury for fitting up an experiment station that shall show the unfortunate humans of Louisiana how to raise hogs on the abandoned sugar plantations. It would be more to the purpose if the appropriation was made $100,000,000 and divided up among the victims of free-trade. Even that sum would hardly reimburse them for the losses of a single year. Read hogs, indeed! If the voters of Louisiana had the spirit to properly resent their mistreatment by a free-
trade Congress and administration
they would raise something besides hogs. They would raise it at the ballot boxes. It would begin with "H"
and end with two "I's."

California is another state that has been hard hit by the tariff and Wilson administration. The citrus fruit growers of Southern California
are not the only ones who are registering a vigorous complaint against the Underwood tariff law. In the northern part of the state, the dairymen have suddenly awakened to the fact that the reduction in the duty on butter is resulting in the dumping of the foreign product into the United States at an alarming rate. A Congressman Knowland has recently compiled figures of the importations of butter
for the first six months under the new tariff law, as compared with the corresponding six months under the republican tariff.

During the first half year, there was imported into the United States
under the democratic tariff, 6,492,658
pounds of butter, as against 648,123
pounds for a corresponding period
under the republican tariff, an astounding increase of 50 per cent. It is not surprising that California dairymen are complaining that the prices received for butter show a downward trend.

Chinese eggs continue to flow into the United States, and particularly into California at an alarming rate.
The total number of eggs imported during the first six months under the democratic tariff reaches the total of 4,180,388 dozen, an increase over the corresponding six months under the republican tariff of 484 per cent.
California almond growers are alarmed at the increase in the importation of unshelled almonds. There were imported during the past six months 4,582,646 pounds, an increase of 18 per cent.

Foreign importers are likewise
reaching out for the California bean market. The foreign rivals of California have just started, but during six months they have managed to increase the importations 84 per cent.
987,794 bushels being imported. California walnut growers are beginning to take notice of the steadily increasing importation of unshelled
walnuts, 34,120,894 pounds reaching the American market in competition with the California product during the past six months, an increase of 79 per cent.

Democratic candidates, advocating President Wilson's tariff policy, will find it rather difficult in making a canvass of California to explain to growers how it happens that during the past six months 3,572,029 pounds
of raisins were imported, an increase of 52 per cent over a corresponding period under the republican tariff.

The total value of lemons imported
during the past six months amounts to $1,867,925, an increase of 60 per cent.

PROTECTING REDUCING MOTOR OIL

POLARINE remains liquid at zero. POLARINE differs from all other makes of motor oils, in that it furnishes perfect lubrication to friction surfaces at extremes of temperature.
These essential characteristics obviate
the necessity of changing oil for summer
and winter lubrication—also the necessity of mixing kerosene, graphite and other
injurious products with motor oil, and preclude oil for the purpose of a "filing feed"
in winter weather.

CHAPTER VIII.

As the men filed out, Mary turned to meet her husband's angry eyes. "Well, Dan, I'm here," and she looked pleadingly up into the unrelenting face.

"I've given in," she went on. "It's been a struggle, but I'm here. Why, I've been thinking all this evening, while I was getting dressed, I'd give a dollar to see the look on your face when you saw me here, Dan, and know that you got your own way. Dan—I've—well—I've given in, father." And, turning to Rob with an expectant little smile, "Do I look all right, Rob?"

"I think you do," Hayes replied, gravely.

"Will you take Mrs. Slade home, Robert?" Slade broke in.

"It's very late," Hayes pleaded as he put his hand lovingly on the little woman's shoulder.

"Yes, I know it is," Mary agreed, still not realizing what a fiasco her first attempt to enter into social life was. "I've been outside for half an hour—just trying to make up my mind, but as long as you're here yet—why—"

"There aren't any other ladies present," Hayes tried to explain, "and I think perhaps—"

"You'd better go," Slade finished for him, but not in his conciliatory tone.

"But you don't understand," Mary objected. "He doesn't understand," she turned to Hayes in a perplexed way. "My being here tonight means I've given in," and she looked up searchingly into her husband's forbidding face. "I'm going out with you every night, all the time, whenever you want me, balls, parties, dinners, everything."

"Will you see Mrs. Slade to her carriage?" Slade turned to Bob, ignoring his wife's detaining hand.

"Yes, but," Mary began to object.

"It's necessary that I join these gentlemen," Slade informed her coldly. "Take her at once," he commanded Hayes.

Hayes started toward the door.

"Call me when you're ready, Mrs. Slade. I'll wait in the hall," and he disappeared.

Slade thrust his hands deep into his pockets and looked at his wife in a puzzled way. She was nervously pulling off her gloves and beginning to realize that her visit was, for some unexplained reason, scarcely the success she had planned it to be.

"In God's name, what did you come here for, Mary?" Slade finally demanded.

"What did I come here for?" she repeated blankly. "What did I come here for? Why, to please you. I thought you'd be glad. I just can't stand it with you living out of the house, Dan. Lord, I haven't slept a wink since you left. Aren't you missing me?" and her voice trembled just the least bit.

"Oh, Dan. It's all over now, ain't it, our tiff?" she began eagerly, catching his arm impulsively and pressing her face against his coat-sleeve, kissing the unresponsive broadcloth again and again. "We're making up; we'll go home together. It'll all be different after this, and I'll see you at the breakfast table mornings now," she finished joyfully.

"Dan," she began again, "I don't believe you've had a decent cup of coffee since you left home. I'd like to make you a cup now, myself," and she looked reflectively around the senator's library as if she thought there might possibly be some opportunity to brew a cup of coffee right then and there.

"Come on home, father," she urged, calling him by the name of the old, old days, when they had both dreamed of little ones in their home, and patting his arm lovingly, tenderly. "Mad at me yet?" she questioned.

Slade winced under the gentle touch of her hand on his arm, and found it necessary to turn away from the face that was so sweet and penitent.

"No," he stammered, "I'm not mad at you, only this is no place to talk about our troubles."

"Well, we'll go along home," she suggested.

"No, I can't come now. You'd better let Rob take you home," and he started for the door.

Mary started after him, clutching at his arm.

"I've got to know what the matter is now—I must—I must," she declared vehemently.

"Very well, Mary, as far as my plans go, I've arranged my life differently."

"Differently? Differently? Haven't I given in?"

"It's too late now. I'm sorry to say this, but you force me."

"Wait a minute, Dan." She drew a long breath, as if nervously herself for an ordeal. "You're going to say something dreadful. Before you begin I want to say that I'll do anything to get things back just the same as they were before—anything. There's nothing you could ask me I won't do—nothing! There! Now! Now go on," and she sank weakly into a chair.

"Look here," Slade was cruelly abrupt. "This separation is permanent. Nothing's going to change it."

"Separation?" She gave him a blank, amazed stare. "Why, Dan, who's talking about separation? We can't be separated."

"We can be—we are. When I left you, that night it was for good and wouldn't see it."

"Is it my fault that I married a man who's turned into somebody else?" Mary argued, fighting, fighting for her life, her happiness—for him. "I married you, Dan. I married a poor young fellow who was hard worked and I helped him along. We started fair, Dan, but this ain't fair," lapsing more and more into poor grammar and dialect as her excitement rose. "You got beyond me, but it was because I worked and saved the pennies for you, while you went out and got helped and learned. Cooking didn't learn me. I didn't even know I was behind the times or unsatisfactory until one day you—"

Slade nervously assured himself that all the doors were tightly closed. He suppressed the twinge of shame for his stealthy action by assuring himself that it was not fear—simply business caution. To his cowardly wrenching of his wife's heart he gave no thought at all. It was a move in the game. He made it as dispassionately as one moves a chessman on the board. Mary was looking at him with a new light in her brown eyes as he turned to her again. She spoke again.

"It was all right until you made that lucky deal, Dan, with the money. I helped you to make and you pulled me out from behind my stove and tried to make me a parlor ornament. I'd hate to think where you'd been today, if you had. Five years ago you took all the work I loved to do out of my hands and now you're punishing me because I did work."

"No, I'm not," Slade remonstrated, moved in spite of himself by her simple, eloquent argument.

"Yes, you are, Dan, you're just as good as whipping me for laying' up the foundation of every dollar you've got and here I am at my age, sitting in idleness in a great big barn of a house with my job gone," she finished pathetically.

"Well, that's life," declared Slade unfeelingly.

"Then it's a pretty poor thing," and she shook her head sadly. "No, it ain't life. It shouldn't be. There's something wrong in a man's getting so far up he can't live with the wife he married because she cooked and worked instead of playing. It ain't just!"

"Oh, what's the use, Mary?" Slade sighed wearily, as though he, and not she, were the injured one.

"Dan," Mary lowered her voice and looked at him earnestly. "If I brought up a girl today and we were poor, would you advise me to say, 'Take piano lessons, learn languages, keep up to the times, never mind doing your share or being economical?'"

"I'm not going to argue," Slade replied loftily.

"You can't, Dan," declared Mary with conviction. "There ain't no argument. It's one-sided. Suppose I'd changed and you'd stayed the same, what would all your friends say? 'Poor Slade, his wife's crazy—or bad—probably bad.' No, yer can't get me to see it!"

"Well, whether you see it or not, that's just where we stand. You'd better let me call Robert to take you home."

"Wait, Dan," she pleaded. "Will you see me again at home, if I go now?"

There was a tense pause. Slade did not reply.

"I see, I see," she dropped wearily into a chair and suddenly the tears started in her eyes.

"Please, Mary, remember where you are," Slade was a trifle less cold. "I'll let you know my plans. All you have to do is abide by them. You say you'll do anything for me, that's all I ask you to do, abide by my plans. I wish you much happiness, the best

"I will have it," stormed Slade, all, Mary. "We can't get along together and I've made up my mind to it. It's settled."

"You mean to say you haven't missed your home? You haven't wanted me to give in? You mean what's happened is for the best?"

"Yes," he answered icily.

Mary gazed at him in bewilderment. "You're not the man I talked to five weeks ago. I don't know you. It must be the people about you—or it's—"

Like a flash the possibility of another woman came into her mind. But she dismissed it as quickly as it had come. She would not insult him—or herself—or their love by such a suggestion.

"I am another man from the one you married," Slade agreed, "but you of everything, a life beyond anything you ever had," and he was, rapidly being carried away by his own magnanimity. "I shall always think of you with the greatest affection," he concluded, taking on a patronizing air and trying to make himself believe his own empty sentiments. His self-esteem had been severely torn in the last few moments of his wife's talk. He had almost caught a glimpse of himself as he really was, but he was regaining what he was pleased to consider control of himself.

"Well, you've conquered," Mary dabbed her eyes and nose and tried to muster up sufficient courage to meet the situation. "I give in. I'll abide by your plans. Whatever you want me to do," her voice broke into a sob, "tell Robert—I'll do it." The tears continued to fall in spite of her. Her heart was breaking. Her shoulders drooped pitifully, yet she felt a certain sad joy in acceding to his wishes. There was a kind of happiness in sacrificing herself to please him.

She began to pull her gloves, jerkily, clumsily, finding some relief in having something to do. She was struggling hard not to break down—not to cling wildly to him and beg him not to give her up.

She steadied herself finally.

"Well, Dan, there's one thing you've got to be careful of—now that I won't be round to hold you back—now that I won't be with you any more," her voice quavered. "I'm the only one who tells you all the truth. Everyone else is afraid of you."

"Don't let them flatter you," she said, with more maternal than wisely solicitude. "They can. I found that out. Father! You're an awful fool with your money. You never had but one real friend. That's me. You'll find it out."

"I'll look out," Slade promised, and there was a note of relief in his tone at her change of attitude.

"Do you want me to go away from our house right off?" Mary asked, as if the idea of actual leaving had just occurred to her.

"Oh!" Slade hesitated. The details did seem rather cold-blooded. "But it'll be better when it's all settled—"

"All right," Mary's voice was patient and colorless. "I'd like to feel I was going where you wanted me to go—wherever 'tis—and—do'n' what yer wanted me to—"

"Thank you, Mary," and the surface politeness seemed strangely out of place from this man who was turning the wife of his youth adrift. "Of course it'll be arranged that you get the best of the divorce. I'll attend to that. You simply leave it to me—"

"A divorce," interrupted Mary. Her eyes widened with amazement, and she came up to him, her mouth open with surprise. "A divorce?"

Dinner Stories

They were discussing the North American Indian in a rural school, says a British weekly, when the teacher asked if anyone could tell him what the leaders of the tribes were called.

"Chief," answered a bright little girl at the head of the class.

"Correct," answered the teacher. "Now, can you tell me what the women were called?"

There was silence for a minute or two, and then a small boy's hand waved eagerly aloft.

"Well, Frankie," asked the teacher.

"Mischief," he proudly announced.

The lawyer was drawing up a will. "I hereby bequeath all my property to my wife," dictated the son of the soil. "Got that?"

"Yes," answered the lawyer.

"On condition that she marries again within a year."

The legal light sat back, puzzled.

You'll Grow Over "GETS-IT" for Corns!

It Will Startle You How "GETS-IT" Gets Corns Every Time.

"One, two, three!" That's about as long as it takes you to apply "GETS-IT," the new, plain, simplest, surest cure the world has ever seen. Corn fussing is all over.

"This is No Place for a Corn. No Corns Are All Gone. She Must Have Used 'GETS-IT'."

over. Corns, corn pains and calluses are absolutely done for, from the minute you apply "GETS-IT." Forget the bother of useless plasters, greasy salves that spread and make toes sore and raw, little doughnut cotton rings that press on corns, forget knives, razors, scissors and the dangers of blood poison from drawing blood, and the contraptions and harnesses that simply make corns worse. "GETS-IT" never hurts the flesh, never fails.

"GETS-IT" is sold by all druggists, 25c a bottle, or sent direct by E. Lawrence & Co., Chicago.

A Confidence

Once upon a time in the not too happy past there lived a young man who decided he would be a Poet. He was temperamental, sentimental, and could rhyme words with rapidity and dispatch. If there were any minor qualifications necessary for the making of a Poet, he was blissfully ignorant of them.

He bombarded the Editor of his home paper first. His literary effusions near caused him his life; as in final despair the Editor threatened to shoot him on sight.

He did not give up. Genius, wise or otherwise, dies hard. The fact that Editors the country over could not see the real worth in his little masterpieces was the jolt of his life.

His father, in despair ran an ad in his home paper for work for his son as typist (he scorned to send his "gems" out in longhand) and as the Pater knew how to advertise, son landed a really good position.

Now, do you agree with me when I say that if the want ad page can make money for a Poet, it is deserving of our unbounded confidence. There is hardly a limit to its possibilities is there?

MEDIATORS' DECISION ANXIOUSLY AWAITED

A. B. C. DIPLOMATS WILL RULE ON ADMISSION OF CARRANZA DELEGATE.

SMALL HOPE IS FELT

Especially When Constitutionalists
Agent at Washington Gives Out
Another Drastic Statement

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Niagara Falls, June 2.—The mediators are still in a deadlock over the question of a constitutionalist representative at the conference here. The American and Mexican delegates were awaiting more information today about the character and ability of the constitutionalist suggested to complete the government.

The Mexican delegates are reporting to their government the development with reference to the constitutionalist, but have not yet received official knowledge on the subject from the mediation board itself.

The American delegates have not finished their discussion with the mediators about the constitutionalist and are awaiting more information from Washington. Indications were today that nothing definite would be decided on the constitutionalist, although the mediators were reported to be framing a reply to the last Carranza note.

The statement from Durango, given at the constitutionalist conference, was regarded here as likely to delay, rather than hurry, the negotiations. While no comment was obtainable, those of the conference who did express themselves pointed to the statement as a concrete evidence of misunderstanding that existed in the minds of the constitutionalists as to the character of the conference here.

The statement, it is said, showed a lack of information of the constitutionalists on some of the important points to be treated here, especially as to just what representation in the constitutionalist conference the conference had intended for them. There is some reason for believing that the conference here has planned from the first to give the constitutionalists a large share in the provisional government, but definite information along this line had necessarily been withheld until the view point of the Huerta government and the authorities at Washington could be obtained.

Upon the receipt of a dispatch from Washington the American delegates requested a conference with the mediators at three-thirty P. M.

At the conference, while administrative leaders still look to Niagara Falls today for the decision of the mediators over the question of Constitutional representation, the semi-official statement from Carranza headquarters at Durango, criticizing the course of the South American mediators, attracted widespread attention.

From Carranza headquarters at Durango, the American mediators, attracted widespread attention.

Cabinet Members Silent.

When the cabinet meeting broke up, it was said one of the members would express any view of Carranza's late pronouncement as it had not been before them officially. The late communication of the American delegates at the Niagara Falls conference were discussed without being announced.

Not a Hopeful Attitude.

CALIFORNIA MOUNT THROWING OUT LAVA

New Crater Side of Mt. Lassen, Erupting
Large Boulders, Lava and Ashes—No Damage Caused.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Redding, Cal., June 2.—Mount Lassen, a peak in the Sierra Nevada between Plumas and Chasita counties, California, is in eruption. A new crater has opened in the side of the mountain, lateral fissures running in all directions. Ashes cover the ground for three miles. Large boulders have been ejected from the crater. A cloud of smoke and steam hangs over the mountain.

Word of the eruption was conveyed to this city today in an official report from forestry rangers. No great damage was possible, as the country in the vicinity of the ancient volcano is sparsely settled.

Mount Lassen is ten thousand four hundred and forty-seven feet high, and of volcanic origin. There is evidence that it was in eruption at a comparatively recent period although it antiquated the entry of the white men into California.

Thus far no damage had been reported as the result of the eruption of Mount Lassen.

SUFFRAGETTES IN WALES ARE AT WORK

Welsh Women Visited David Lloyd
George Constituency, Then Raised
Havoc in Streets.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Cricieth, Wales, June 2.—Suffragettes today visited the constituency of David Lloyd George, the chancellor of the exchequer was addressing the open-air meeting. Women first tried to create a panic among the audience, but were summarily ejected. Then they went to Main street and shattered with hammers windows in many stores and residences. The police arrested several of them.

At the Palace.

London, June 2.—The young militants disturbed the tranquility of Buckingham palace this afternoon by chaining themselves to the rails of the main gates and waving Women's social and political union flags, and shouting slogans of "bread and butter for women." Neither King George nor Queen Mary was in the palace at the time.

The authorities of the royal exchange today ordered the exclusion of suffragettes from the building, as they feared damage from suffragettes.

SEIZE AMMUNITIONS ORDERED BY REBELS

Five Hundred Tons of War Supplies

Held in New York.

New York, June 2.—Five hundred tons of ammunition ordered by the Mexican constitutionalists which arrived in New York today from Bridgeport, Conn., will not be allowed to leave this port, although it was stated at the custom house no instructions had been received from Washington. Officials declare that any vessel bearing arms and ammunition consigned to either of the Mexican factions would be refused clearance papers.

It is understood that the lot would be lighted to the ward liner Antilla which is to sail late today for Tampico. Agents of the company who manufacture the ammunition admitted it has arrived here.

DEMOCRATS OPPOSE STATE CONVENTION

Aylward Crowd in Ascendancy Vote
Down Karel Men 12 to 10 at Milwaukee Gathering.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Milwaukee, June 2.—There will be no democratic state convention this year. Such was the decision of the democratic state central committee yesterday afternoon at the meeting in the Plankinton house. The vote stood 12 to 10, against it.

The following is the vote:
For—A. J. Jensen, Edgerton; H. G. Fischer, Jefferson (by proxy); Vincent Hennessy, Milwaukee; Peter Brzonkala, Milwaukee; John Callahan, Milwaukee; George Herman, Milwaukee; E. W. Clark, Fond du Lac; John McCullen, Calumet county; Joseph Martin, Green Bay; F. A. Badour, Oconto.

Against—A. J. Stahl, Kenosha; William Joachim, Ozaque; A. G. Rothe, Fennimore; A. G. Schmiedeman, Madison; by proxy, John A. Rice, Sparta; J. Burns, La Crosse; H. E. Fitch, Nekeosa; Charles McDonald, Wittenberg; A. C. Smith, Durand (by proxy); Car Cunningham, Chippewa Falls; P. A. Russell, Superior; and T. M. Ryan, Merrill.

Debate is Brief.

While the meeting was secret it is understood that the debate was rather short and tame. James H. Aylward, the chairman, announced that the first part of the meeting would be open to all, so that a general expression of sentiment could be made. John A. Stahl, who today was moved to the executive session, did not know this, and as a result the meeting was closed.

The lineup came shortly after the opening of the meeting, when it was moved to all proxies be excluded. Had this been carried out it would have thrown out the votes of Stahl, Schmiedeman and Fischer, killing two anti-convention votes today. But the vote was 8 to 10 to accept proxies.

Badour Moves to Meet.

Then came the question of the convention. The resolution, seconded by Callahan, provided for a convention on June 24, with county caucuses on June 17. Discussion followed and vote decided the question. The resolution was carried, and the convention was set for June 24.

Because T. H. Ryan no longer lives in the eleventh district his vote was challenged by Hennessy. The chair ruled that the vote could be accepted. Ryan was asked for a vote and the chair was sustained.

The chair also reported that all deficits of the committee had been met except a note of $3.00 held by Harry Bonney. Upon this point a question of a democratic press bureau at Madison is left to a committee of Badour, Schmiedeman and Hennessy.

OBJECTS TO CLAIMS OF TEXAS INVENTOR

Kilbourn, Wis., Gives Facts Regarding Inventor's Part in Development of Automobile.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Madison, Wis., June 2.—Exception is taken by a Kilbourn, Wis. man, G. M. Marshall, to the claim of Dr. C. Hart, the inventor of the horseless carriage. He declares in a letter to Secretary of State Donald that a self-moving steam vehicle was invented by Oliver Evans of Philadelphia in 1805 and reached Madison at the time nearly all using steam as a propelling power.

When a boy in Vermont, says Mr. Marshall, he himself made and used a self-moving steam engine. In 1873 he says he invented a "steam wagon," made drawings and specifications, and his witnesses thereto. As a member of the Wisconsin Legislature in 1875 he drew up a bill to encourage the use of steam or other mechanical agents on highways offering a bounty of $10,000 to any citizen of the state for a machine which after having been tested by the state would power 200 miles at the rate of at least five miles an hour. The bill was passed, but Marshall did not enter the contest as a competitor. He was, however, named as an inventor of the steam engine.

The commission started from Green Bay via Oshkosh, Wauwatosa, Port Atkinson, Watertown and Janesville and reached Madison at the rate of 105-mile trip at the rate of five miles per hour.

FUNERAL WEDNESDAY FOR CREW VICTIMS IN EMPRESS WRECK

Quebec, June 2.—The first public funeral of the victims of the collision between the steamer Empress of Ireland and the Collier Storstad, is to be held Wednesday, when the bodies of nine of the crew will be buried.

Responsibility for the collision just now is a subject of bitter controversy. It will be fixed by the royal commission appointed to make inquiry.

Hearings will begin June 9, but whether at Montreal or Quebec has not yet been definitely settled. A number of disputes have arisen at the funeral shed, where identification has been going on. There were five persons contending for the possession of one of the little girl's limbs with the result that when the pier was closed last night the body was still classed as unclaimed. The features of victims are so altered that many mistakes are made.

Announcement made at Quebec today that hearings as to cause of disaster will begin June 9.

SHARP FIGHTING ON AT SAN LUIS POTOSI

Constitutionalists Said to Have Gained Victory Over Federal Forces.

At San Luis Potosi.

Durango, June 2.—Three decisive engagements with Federal troops between Zatecas and San Luis Potosi, were won by the Constitutionalists May 30 and 31, according to reports received today by General Carranza. Colonel Reyes with six hundred men of the command of General Carranza Torrez who is investing San Luis Potosi administered a decisive defeat to a large force of Salinas and later also defeated a force sent from San Luis to reinforce the Salinas garrison.

The fighting at Salinas lasted twenty-eight hours. The Federalists lost the battle being forty six privates and four officers. Fourteen Federal officers captured were executed and thirty-seven privates captured were liberated.

Colonel Cateca, the commander under General Emilio Madero captured a Federal troop train at Pines, May 31, killing sixty of the Federal captives.

WOMEN UP IN ARMS OVER GAMBLING LAW

Will Boycott Louisiana Merchants
Who Favor Legalizing of Race
Track Betting.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

New Orleans, June 2.—Organizations of women in New Orleans plan to boycott merchants who are supposed to favor the measure now before the legislature to legalize betting on horse racing in Louisiana. Two mass meetings already have been held.

Sixteen thousand signatures to the petition the bill was introduced in the lower house of the General Assembly at Baton Rouge, and sent to the committee on affairs from which a report that betting be permitted under the pari-mutuel system and that race be governed by a commission much the same as in Kentucky, is expected.

To combat this position women who attended the mass meeting on Sunday to gain signatures to a counter petition.

In the legislature both sides claim a majority.

EXPORT TRADE HAS ALARMING DECLINE

While Imports, Especially Food Stuffs,
Have A Big Increase in Last Six Months Period.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Washington, June 2.—With the home demand for domestic food stuff almost equal in production, the United States is not only reducing its exports but is increasing its imports of food stuff. This is one of the striking features of a review today by the department of Commerce of the Foreign Trade during the first six months under the new tariff.

Figures show that imports of food stuff in their natural condition, including food animals, increased from $117,134,237 in the half year ending with March 1913, to $143,421,535 during the corresponding period this year and that imports of food stuff in the same period increased from $95,744,241 to $100,967,378. The increase in importation in all food products in the period ended March 31, 1914, was $1,000,000, averaging $5,000,000 a month.

Figures of exports are even more striking for crude food stuffs. Exports fell off more than fifty per cent. Exports of crude stuffs fell from $115,845,461 in the half year ending with March 1913 to $55,483,787 in the corresponding period, and manufactured products from $180,074,022 to $162,022,620.

STATE PLANS SUIT ON TAYLOR COUNTY

Unless One-third of Fishing and Hunting Fines Are Turned Over Immediately.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

Madison, Wis., June 2.—Taylor county will be made the object of a suit by Attorney General Owen, acting on behalf of the state, unless it complies with the one-third portion of the hunting and fishing fines which it is now retaining. Under a statute enacted a number of years ago the county clerk is attempting to retain this money. Attorney General Owen today wrote the district attorney, John B. Haggerty, calling his attention to the matter as it had been reported to him by State Treasurer Henry Johnson. The attorney general pointed out that there is a provision in the constitution which provides that the net proceeds of all fines shall be paid into the school fund of the state treasury. He added that the recent constitutionality case, which is now pending in the courts, is to need no discussion at this time, and requests the district attorney to advise the county clerk to remit the money at once.

STRIFE.

MUCH PILLAGING DONE

Establishing of Albania as State
Starts New Warfare—Thieving
Troops Looting Villages.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

London, June 2.—The troubles of Mexico and Ulster have wholly overshadowed public interest in the near east during recent months. But the formal ending of the Balkan war has brought a rest to that long suffering region. Thrace, Macedonia, and Albania are boiling with racial and religious strife. Stories of fighting, of persecution and of massacres come to the London papers from many correspondents, and a printer in a small town with a little comment. Europe has come to accept these conditions as a matter of course.

The changes of boundaries and of sovereignty which resulted from the peace treaties, and the launching of Albania as an autonomous state, responsible for the new era of struggle and butchery. Every power concerned in the new allotments is trying to impress not only its laws but its own state religion upon those who have become its subjects. If the current historians are to be believed.

Religious War.

Forcible "conversions" by wholesale seem the order of the day. Between the Christian and the Mussulman dissonance, between Greeks, Turks, Bulgarians, Roumanians, Servians and Albanians, there is little choice of standards of civilization. Much of the information comes from Athens which presents events only from the standpoint of Greek interests; much is disseminated from Greek newspapers. The Turkish government is determined to drive the whole Greek population from Thrace, according to accounts from Greek sources. It has organized a campaign of oppression which is making life impossible for people of Greek affiliations in the country about Kirk Kilisse, Lulu Burgas and all the land which Bulgaria conquered in the Balkan wars. By Greeks is meant the adherents of the Greek church, since nationality is recognized as following religion rather than blood in these regions.

The Greeks are pictured as having as desperate times in Thrace under the rod of the young Turk as the Bulgarians had in Macedonia under Abdulhamid. The methods of terrorism are the same.

Ravage Cities.

Irregular troops, who get their living by loot and bands of so-called brigands, all supposed to be acting under inspiration from Constantinople, are overrunning the country. Burning villages, looting the sky, as during the days of war, cattle and sheep are driven away; pillage and ravishing goes on. Life is made so intolerable that Greek inhabitants are glad to emigrate to the coast with what belongings they can. Their numbers in Athens reports that 25,000 refugees have arrived at Salonika by ships, and that 15,000 more are waiting on the coast to be shipped.

The head of the Greek church at Constantinople persecuted the British ambassador to remonstrate with the Sublime Porte, and orders were telegraphed to the local governors to repatriate all refugees. Truth says that these orders are meant only to embarrass the ambassador, and that the governors were given the word secretly to disregard them. That was a familiar stratagem of the old Turkish despots, who used to pressure from the powers became too acute to be ignored.

Jews Expelled.

The Greek government, on its part, does not lack enterprise at oppression. If witness from non-Greek sources be credited, Restrictive laws "against the Jews" in Salonika have been made so strong that 8,000 Jews, once once prosperous port. The battalions of Greeks from Thrace seeking asylum, and of departing Jews, number between two and three thousand persons daily, so that all the city is crowded and the normal life and business are as much disturbed as they were during the days of the war. An important factor of the upheaval is that both the Greeks of Thrace and the Jews of Salonika were the prosperous peoples in those communities, and their expulsion means ruin and disaster to both.

Fierce Fighting.

Meanwhile the new ruler of Albania, Prince William of Wied, who bears the title Morea, is having some homecoming with his domestic civil war, which customarily is the chief industry of that more than half barbarous principality, is proceeding. The Greeks claim 400,000 adherents, out of which the vast majority of the southern portion of the new Albania. These people of Epirus known as Epiotes refuse allegiance to the Morea. Fierce fighting has been going on about Koriza, and the rebellion is said to be the officers of the Greek army. The Epiotes have the advantage of an organized army possessed of some artillery. Apart from a small force of gendarms and 500,000, the Albanians rely upon volunteers recruited from the southern Albanian clan. No attempt to mobilize them has been made and they scatter along the front, fighting in the old free and easy way, but with no plan of making any advance of a regular front line task.

The Greek government disavows responsibility for the Greek officers who have lost their fortunes with the friends, but the feud is a religious one. The Greek Christians and the animosity is far fiercer than in any mere political war. The worst tale of atrocity which the near east has yielded in many days came from this hold, but the making of Albanian Muslims were reported to have been found in a church at Corda all crucified alive. Women and children were among them. So many stories of similar atrocity come from the Balkan peninsula that the war for civilization, proclaimed by the Balkan League has brought to cure of the old racial feuds; only new phases of the same disease.

June is the month of College and School Commencements, occasions casting before them the shadows of preparation. Demands on the family purse are large and numerous. It is a time when the advertising in a careful newspaper like The Gazette must be of immense service. Read it carefully. Use the information it gives.
